Now has come the time to say farewell to one we love and admire greatly. Through the years, you have guided us forthrightly along the paths of citizenship and knowledge. You have enriched our lives through unselfish devotion of your profession, to your pupils, to your school, and to your community. Your inspiration and understanding will always endear you to us. We, the Seniors of 1962, contribute our gratitude, and in saying "Thank you," we sincerely dedicate this yearbook to our dear friend and teacher, Mrs. Dorothy Hardy.

Principal's Message

You Seniors are being graduated into a world of unlimited possibilities as well as a world of unstable conditions. The new discoveries, inventions, and progressive thinking have projected so very many possibilities that you may feel overcome in attempting to make a wise choice for your life's work. What the future will bring is rather difficult to anticipate. However, you have the basic foundations upon which to build and upon which to call for direction for the years that lie ahead. May you have God's blessings and mold a Christian, democratic world where the value of the human personality will always be one of the most important things in life.

SENIORS

We, the undersigned, being of sound and stable mind, do hereby bequeath and will the following of our most valued and prize possessions to those mentioned herein, whom we consider, best qualified to reign as our heirs.

- To Fate Heath, Rene' Steiner leaves his quiet and faithful ways.
- To Mary Pollard, Doris Peaden leaves her ability to "catch the boys."
- To Charles Watson, Eddie Jenkins leaves his ability to take 'em and leave 'em.
- To Ann Proctor, Anna Sue McLawhorn leaves her sincere and sweet ways.
- To Frankle Edwards and Charles Crisp, Donald Mills leaves B-F-H-S "gladly."
- To Harriette Turner, Bettie Norville leaves her ability to be a good sport.
- To Steve Little, Butch Baker leaves his long hair.
- To Melba Everette, Linda Phillips and Frances Stepps leave their fondness of "going Steady."
- To Steve Cobb, Johnny Roberson leaves his personality and charming ways.
- To Faye Brewer, Carol Clark leaves her desire to finish school.
- To Waylon Whitley, Melvin Nelson leaves his position as President of the S. C. A.
- To Beverly Gaynor, Carol Norville leaves her superlative position as "most studious."
- To Jimmy Watson, Donnie Allen leaves the saying, "I study all the time, and don't know nothing."
- To Mary Ann Tingen, Sybil Manning leaves her very quiet ways.
- To Paul Bright, Ray Hudson leaves his intelligence.
- To Barbara Stancill, Joyce Everette leaves her small but visible freckles.
- To Bobby Stancill, Chuck Mangiapane leaves his love for girls and cars.
- To Sue Pierce, Dorothy Clark leaves her quiet and studious ways.
- To Bobby Ray Everette, Ammie Eason leaves that one and only smile.
- To Mary Wainright, Linda Campbell leaves her big mouth.
- To Nicky Cherry and James Simpkins, Johnny Rouse leaves his height.
- To Otis Taylor, Alan Witherington leaves the advice, "Don't ever shout at Mrs. Parker."
- To Robert Norville, Wayne Windham leaves "well - for gosh sakes, it doesn't seem as though he's going anywhere!"
- To Lewis Wetherington, Eugene Peaden leaves all his desks in Mr. Cobb's room.
- To Bobby Waters, John Harris leaves those smart remarks and quiet ways.
- To James Ayers and Joe Braxton, Donald Garris leaves his devotion for studying.
- To Linwood Grey, Harold Harris leaves his proverb, "that English just kills me!"

To Joyce Elks, Joan Windham leaves singing, "Those Wedding Bells Are Ringing."
 To Joi Parker, Linda Clark leaves her figure and flair for clothes.
 To Mary Eakes, Joy Strickland leaves her sweet nature.

Foreword

As our high school years draw to a close we look back upon these wonderful years spent as students of Belvoir-Falkland School with fond memories and regrets. This annual, The Eagle, will serve as a lasting memory.

We hope that the rising seniors cherish the years they've spent here in Belvoir as much as we have. As we leave we realize that we are walking away from the dearest years of our lives. So as we give up these precious memories to be taken over by other seniors we ask that you honor and love Belvoir as we do.

Class Prophecy

On June 25, 1970 after a long discussion, we decided to visit our friends who had left for other parts of the country.

At Raleigh we board a bus and find to our amazement that the driver is Wayne Windham. As we take a seat near the front we find that Joan Windham and Linda Clark are sitting in the back still discussing their wedding plans.

At Memphis there is a road block, and the bus is stopped. We find that the trouble is, two cars have been stopped for auto racing. The drivers of the cars are Ray Hudson and Donnie Allen. The arresting officers are Johnnie Rouse and Eugene Peaden. Boarding the bus once again we continue our trip to Kansas City, where we stop over night.

Entering the Belvedue Hotel we find that it is owned by Rene' Steiner. Rene' tells us that Ammie Eason is owner of the Do-Drop-In Barber Shop in the hotel. That night as we are walking around town, we pass the jail. Much to our surprise we see a very familiar face peeping from behind the bars. It is none other than our good friend Melvin Nelson. He tells us that his past with women has caught up with him. He had married three times and is now a bigamist.

Next morning we board a plane to California. We find that Johnny Roberson is pilot and Butch Baker is Co-pilot - Joy Strickland and Linda Campbell are the stewardesses. Arriving in California, we find that many of our past classmates are now stars on screen and T. V. We are invited to a party by Donald Garris a big producer of movies. At the party we are entertained by Frances Stepps who has reached "Stardom" by singing. The Band director is Eddie Jenkins, with Harold Harris as the drummer. Linda Phillips is doing a very good job as official hostess. Also at the party is Chuck Mangiapane who tells us that he is a lawyer for Columbus Studios. Chuck tells us that Sybil Manning, Carol Norville, and Carol Clark are secretaries in his office.

Boarding the plane once again, we continue our trip to Texas. There we find that Dorothy Clark is owner of a large ranch. John Harris comes over in the meantime to see if any of his dairy cows had strayed from his big dairy farm next door. When we go out for supper, we find that Doris Peaden and Joyce Everette are owners of a big restaurant.

Our next stop is in New York City where we find Sue McLawhorn as a model for Macy's Department Store.

Returning to our rooms for the night to write our fantastic story for the Belvoir-Falkland Times, our thoughts return to our dear friends and fond memories that we will always hold dear.
